MONTREAL -- Public Works Minister Michael Fortier says he will run in the next election in a Montreal-area riding.

When the Harper Conservatives took power last February, Fortier was named to the cabinet via the Senate.

Fortier has his eye on Vaudreuil-Soulanges, a riding he says suits his professional and personal experience.

In the last election, the Liberal candidate in Vaudreuil-Soulanges was former astronaut Marc Garneau.

The riding was won by P-Q candidate Meili Faille, who beat Garneau by almost 10-thousand votes.
